Best in class – maximum data transmission thanks to integrated power outlet and mains filter

The dLAN® 200 AVplus adapter from devolo ensures optimal availability and highest performance with its integrated electrical socket and mains filter: The integrated electrical socket enables additional terminal devices or multiple sockets to be connected to the adapter just like to a normal wall socket. No more electrical outlet is lost! And the integrated filter significantly improves data transmission in the home network.

The integrated socket ensures that no electrical outlet is lost
